Poultry is our life.
Poultry is our passion.

We are Australian poultry specialists focusing on producing and processing the finest cockerels, chickens, ducks and game birds for chefs and cooks who appreciate the flavours and textures of traditionally raised birds.

We grew up in a household where poultry dishes were the centrepiece of meals, where high-quality birds were both respected, and expected.

When we founded Aurum Poultry Co., it was this goal of assured quality that we aimed for. Over the years we have refined and perfected our products by establishing close relationships with a collection of small, hand-picked family farmers across the country. We share our traditions, knowledge, culture, and the little secrets we have learned along the way to grow perfect birds with our partner farmers. They understand the importance of adhering to our well-honed best practice rearing methods that involve low-density stocking rates and special feed blends to ensure the best nutrition for birds. The result is consistent fine texture and intense flavour.

In a world of food where everything seems fast, we are not afraid to go slow. While some commercial growers will take just 42 days to raise a chicken, we will allow up to 90 days, sometimes 120 days to slowly grow out a bird. We have re-committed to our corn-fed ducks by moving to a new farm in the mild and fertile countryside at Lethbridge in the Moorabool Valley in Victoria's West.

We work side by side with some of the most respected chefs in the country whose culinary traditions traverse the globe. We listen to what they want, and what they need and have produced birds for a demanding industry at a price that is reasonable for everyone. It is something we are proud of.

Sam & Danny Wong, Founders

Farming for the future

At Aurum Poultry Co., we strive for poultry with a rich, deep flavour and a defined texture. This can only be achieved through excellence in farming and animal husbandry.

An old saying goes: 'you can't make a sad bird taste good'. We understand that to produce a premium eating experience our flocks must be well-fed, well-watered, well-sheltered and cared for throughout their lives.

Forming close relationships with a selection of small, hand-picked family farmers throughout Victoria, the Aurum Poultry Co. founders and farm team have shared their traditions and knowledge with its farming cooperative in order to grow perfect birds and create refined poultry products.

Aurum Poultry Co. farms utilise well-honed farming techniques and the highest level of farming and animal husbandry in the industry. We also have a state-of-the-art processing facility in Melbourne's west employing 100 people. Aurum Poultry Co. understands the great importance of freshness in delivering a superior product.

Looking after every aspect of its production, from the farming and rearing of the birds, to transport, processing and packaging, allows Aurum Poultry Co. to bring the freshest specialty poultry to professional chefs and home cooks across Australia.

Our farming approach

Slow Grown

We understand that achieving great flavour takes patience. While the chicken industry-standard lifetime is 42 days from hatching to processing, our Fook Wong Chickens are grown out to between 100–120 days to develop muscle, strengthen the bone, and allow the legs & breast to develop tone, colour, and texture.

Low-Density Farming

The strict low-density requirements from our partner farmers to grow Fook Wong Chicken sees a maximum stocking rate at just 30kg per square metre, well below the industry code requirement of 40kg per square metre. This means fewer birds with more room to run and to spread their wings while preventing aggressive actions that can be caused by unnecessary overcrowding. That active movement is key to building muscle and muscle means great texture and flavour.

Sustainably Farmed

Over the years, we have refined and perfected our products by establishing close relationships; sharing our traditions, knowledge, and culture with a collection of small, hand-picked family farmers across the country. Many of these partnered farmers were struggling to survive when their contracts were discontinued by commercial companies seeking larger-scale production to cut costs. Through the initiative, more than 13 collaborating farms benefit from our shared well-honed best-practice farming techniques.
